

Speaker Intro

Amy Lee Segami (see-Gah-mee), is the president and managing principal of Segami Studios and Consulting.
A former engineer and executive VP turned artist and entrepreneur,
she uses water as her canvas.
With her unique applications of fluid dynamics,
she embraces turbulence to create a unique brand of Painting On Water™.
Her works are in museums, permanent collections, and her process was nominated for the 2020 Thomas Edison Innovation Award.
Through the years,
Amy has received many honors, awards, and recognitions.
This ranges from Crain's Chicago Business 40 under 40,
to a grant from the Chicago Department of Cultural Affairs.
Last year, she received one of two inaugural advancing consulting awards
from the Society for the Advancement of Consulting.
She's also been featured by media, including BBC, NPR,
and Crain's, and the TED Blog.
